Scholars are invited to apply to direct a workshop at the 9th Gulf Research Meeting (GRM), which will take place at the University of Cambridge from July 31st to August 3rd, 2018.

The GRM provides an academic environment to foster Gulf studies and to promote scholarly exchange among specialists working on/or having familiarity with the Gulf region – i.e. the countries of Bahrain, Iran, Iraq, Kuwait, Oman, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, the United Arab Emirates and Yemen. The GRM mandate is to identify issues of importance to the Gulf region and provide a basis for academic and empirical research into those fields. Particular emphasis is placed on encouraging young scholars to engage in the debate and take part in research collaboration.

The Gulf Research Center Cambridge (GRCC) welcomes ANY PROPOSALS DEDICATED TO THE STUDY OF THE GULF REGION on political, economics, security and socially relevant themes.

Each workshop application should include two workshop directors who should come from different institutions. Ideally, at least one director should be based in the Gulf region. Proposals should include a 3 to 5 page description outlining the objectives and scope of the proposed workshop, a section on how such a workshop contributes to the expansion of Gulf studies, an overview of the specific papers to be included in the final workshop and a bibliography relevant to the topic. CVs of both directors should also be submitted.

We look forwards to reading your proposal by November 15, 2017. For questions or for proposal submission, kindly contact Elsa (elsa@grc.net).
