Gulf Research Meeting

15th GRM, Cambridge 22-24 July 2025

Intellectual Property Guidelines

5 September 2024

A. GRC's Interests in the GRM Papers

1. As many papers as possible are to be published in edited volumes (first choice) or special issues of academic journals (second choice) or, for those which cannot be included in these, published individually in academic journals as working papers (with GRC or elsewhere) (third choice). Ideally, one hundred percent of papers presented at GRM will be published.
2. All publishable papers are to be published as soon as possible after GRM 2025.
3. GRCC (Gulf Research Center Cambridge)/GRC/GRM is fully acknowledged:
 - Edited volumes: GRCC copyright on the entire publication; GRCC logo on the cover of the publication; GRC "institutional profile page"; Workshop/Gulf Research Meeting acknowledgements.
 - Special issue of a journal: GRCC copyright in the single papers; workshop/ Gulf Research Meeting acknowledgements.
 - Individual papers: GRCC copyright; workshop/ Gulf Research Meeting acknowledgements.
4. GRCC is part of the agreement between the co-editors and the publishers of edited volumes.
5. GRCC has the right to publish papers as presented at GRM in case they are not published elsewhere, after consultation with the authors.
6. GRCC has the right to translate the papers into Arabic and publish the Arabic versions.
7. GRCC copyright of the English version will be returned to the author(s) if the paper cannot be published in the edited volume proposed by the workshop directors and if this is necessary for the paper to be published in a journal or working paper.

B. GRC's Copyright Explained

1. GRCC organizes GRM and acts as the medium between authors and directors, directly and indirectly, to write, present, discuss, and improve their work with the aim that eventually the fruits of all of this will be distributed among a wider audience. Anything otherwise would contradict GRM's objectives and the GRC credo "Knowledge for All."

2. GRCC claims the copyright of the papers submitted to the GRM to ensure that the above-mentioned points can be achieved to the fullest extent, including making some papers available to Arabic reading audiences.
3. In the case of edited volumes, GRCC will be part of the agreement between co-editors and publishers maintaining the copyright over the entire publication.
4. In case of papers published jointly in special issues of journals, GRCC will maintain the copyright over the single papers, unless this impedes the moving forward of the publication.
5. In the case of papers published individually in journals or as working papers, GRCC will maintain the copyright unless this impedes the publication.
6. Authors can ask GRCC to return the English version's copyright to them if it is necessary to publish the paper individually in a journal or as a working paper. In doing so, they are asked to indicate where the paper will be published and acknowledge GRCC, GRC, and GRM.
